
In Europe, Public Transportation is too expensive.

While the European Commission speaks about climate action, it allows its main fossil fuel companies to expand their production and increase the pollution of greenhouse gases. Even when it taxes these companies, it uses those revenues to subsidize airlines or for more fossil fuel use. The European Commission must stop its greenwashing politics and start providing free public transportation and subsidies in the form of credits to citizens who pollute less and have a lower carbon footprint.

I demand a full refund for my bus, metro, and train tickets. And I want to receive credits for my low carbon footprint.

My name:

Tax the big polluters, not the citizens.
Stop the greenwashing, tell the truth, and act seriously.

Wopke Hoekstra
Climate Action, European Commission

Rue de la Loi
Wetstraat 200
1049, Brussels
Belgium

FOOTPRINT - JUSTICE . COM

FREE RIDE

TotalEnergies

OIL COMPANIES MUST PAY FOR PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION. TICKETS ARE TOO EXPENSIVE AND POLLUTERS PAY TOO LITTLE IN CO₂ TAXES

YOUR FOOTPRINT CREDIT CAN BE CLAIMED AT THE FOOTPRINT-JUSTICE.COM

FOR A FAIR CARBON TAX

